

Dear God,

I have started making many more bad choices and I have to figure out a way to fix it. I don't know if that means breaking up with my boyfriend to find myself again, but I can't imagine doing that. I am losing who I am and who I used to be to someone I am not proud of. I need to make a change and I need my boyfriend to make it with me, but I don't know if he is willing. I need someone who loves God more than I do and right now I don't have it. I feel like I've taken on the burden of making him a Christian man, but either I am not doing enough to help him or it's too big of a task for me to handle. I just wish it felt like he was trying. I've ended up changing myself to fit his lifestyle when all along I've been trying to change his lifestyle. If anything I'm doing more harm than good. I get going so much