

in my life and I don't take the time to sit down and process enough. because if I would do that I would've had this realization by now. I just don't know how to force myself to do it. I continue to make excuses for myself. But really, is the problem my boyfriend or me deep down inside... My boyfriend may be a distraction sometimes, not that that is an excuse, but there will always be distractions like school, friends or work and I've got to learn to make time and put You first. Maybe part of my problem is that I'm blaming my problems and insecurities on others to avoid bringing them to the surface. I can't do this on my own and I've been trying to do it on my own for a while now. Please help me to find an accountability partner because I desperately need one that will be honest and consistent. I know that if I am more in your word and in prayer that it will help me make better choices as I focus more on you which I haven't